OVERVIEW:

The New Jersey Hospital Association's (NJHA) Institute for Quality and Patient Safety is committed to working with its members to improve hospital Antimicrobial stewardship programs (ASP) and associated patient outcomes.

Improving the use of antimicrobials in healthcare to protect patients and reduce the threat of antimicrobial resistance is a national priority. Antimicrobial stewardship refers to a set of commitments and actions designed to “optimize the treatment of infections while reducing the adverse events associated with antimicrobial use.”

The mission of the NJHA Antimicrobial Stewardship Learning Action Collaborative is to promote the use of the appropriate agent, dose, duration, and route of administration of antimicrobial agents both in the acute care setting and in the post-acute care setting in order to improve quality of patient care and patient safety while reducing excessive costs attributable to inappropriate antimicrobial use.

Topics for this conference will include:

1. Updates from key stakeholders in antimicrobial stewardship in New Jersey
2. Updates on the NJHA Antimicrobial Stewardship Learning Action Collaborative
3. Emerging antimicrobial resistance
4. Using nursing in antibiotic stewardship

Instructions for Team Poster presentations

All teams participating in the Face to Face learning session are asked to create and present a poster outlining their efforts thus far in implementing their antimicrobial stewardship programs.

Posters for the December 8 conference are required for all teams participating in the collaborative. Topics for the storyboards should include:

- Biggest challenges in implementing stewardship program
- Biggest successes in implementing stewardship program

**these could include challenges/successes in data collection, implementation of antibiotic restrictions, CDC core elements, etc.

The day of the learning session, teams should bring their printed slides to NJHA. When you arrive the morning of the learning session, you will receive information indicating which table location your storyboard will be posted on. The session will be held in a gallery format with teams walking through and viewing individual storyboards.

One team member should be stationed at the storyboard to present the slides to participants during the designated session.

Please send any questions to Shannon Davila at sdavila@njha.com or Lauren Rava at lrava@njha.com

LEARNER OUTCOME:

After successfully completing the course, the learner will identify one innovative strategy to improve an antimicrobial stewardship program, transferrable to their organization.*

**Successful completion of the course is defined as in-person attendance for 95% of the didactic learning session and a completed course evaluation.*

TARGET AUDIENCE:

Physicians, nurses, pharmacists and public health professionals
