Embracing Palliative Care in Practice

NJHA and its Health Research and Educational Trust will mark National Healthcare Decisions Day April 16 by hosting a complimentary program, Embracing Palliative Care in Practice, with clinicians, clergy and healthcare consumers sharing perspectives on palliative care.

Defined by the World Health Organization in 1990, palliative care seeks to address not only physical pain, but also emotional, social, and spiritual pain to achieve the best possible quality of life for patients and their families. Palliative care extends the principles of hospice care to a broader population that could benefit from receiving this type of care earlier in their illness or disease process. Come join us in a substantive discussion around Embracing Palliative Care in Practice.

INNOVATIONS IN PALLIATIVE & EOL CARE POSTERS REQUESTED

Please contact Patricia Dimino at pdimino@njha.com or 609-275-4061 for poster applications and or questions.

Objectives:

- Review what experts say about palliative care
- Discuss the need to promote palliative care in practice
- Differentiate faith perspectives on palliative care
- Explain the impact on families when palliative care is not built into care plan of seriously ill patients.
- List the strategies to improve palliative care in your organization

Learner Outcome:

After successfully completing the course, the learner will identify two innovative strategies to advance palliative care, transferrable to their organization.

Successful completion of the course is defined as in-person attendance for 95 percent of the didactic learning session and a completed course evaluation.

Target Audience:

Physicians, advanced practice nurses, nurses, clergy, social workers, specialty health care practitioners, post-acute practitioners and other allied healthcare professionals
